The speaker was H. A. Thompson, of Drexel Hill, secretary of the state association of supervisors, who discussed the new code together with other speakers during the day-long meeting.

Because of illness State Secretary of Highways Ray F. Smock was unable to attend but his greetings were extended by Thomas Evans, of Cambria county, senior counsel for the State Highway Department.

Assistance at any time to the supervisors was offered by Don Stackpole, State Highway township engineer. Many of our highways, Stackpole said, are good, but some are also obsolete because of increased traffic. Some need widening, he stated. Route 611 between Plumsteadville and Kintnersville was described as "worn out."

State Secretary Thompson told the supervisors that under the new code "the township supervisors job has greatly changed."

"The township supervisor is no longer just a good pick and shovel man," he said. "You can do anything a borough councilman can do, and your duties and privileges are many."

FBI ARRESTS WYJADKA; SAID TO HAVE ADMITTED THEFT OF MANY CARS; SAID TO BE "FREE LANCE USED CAR DEALER"

(Special to The Courier)

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 26—Stephen Wyjadka, 2029 Carver street, Philadelphia, was arrested yesterday by FBI agents in East Orange, N. J.

Wyjadka was convicted in Doylestown, Pa., Tuesday afternoon on the theft of the car of Mrs. Paul V. Forster, of Bristol, Pa., from in front of her residence early last August. After the verdict was rendered in the case Tuesday afternoon, Wyjadka filed an appeal for a new trial. He was out under cash bail.

According to FBI agents here, Wyjadka has been operating as a "free lance used car dealer," and FBI agent Borden, chief of the Philadelphia Bureau, says that Wyjadka has admitted the theft in the Camden-Philadelphia and suburban area of between 20 and 30 late model automobiles. These, it is stated, have been transported to New York and Philadelphia and sold to used car dealers.

The motors were in most instances removed from the cars, it is contended, and replaced by legitimately-purchased motors, and then sold. The stolen motors have been broken up and used for spare parts, it is claimed.

Wyjadka was arraigned before a United States Commissioner last night, and remanded to the Hudson County jail in default of $5,000 bail.

Cooperating with the FBI agents has been Robert Buckley, deputy chief inspector of New Jersey Motor Vehicle Bureau.

HAMMOND AND KAY SENTENCED; COURT GIVES REPRIMAND

Prison Sentences Suspended; Must Pay Costs and Fines of $200 Each

PUT ON PROBATION

Case is Outgrowth of Accident Causing Death of Arthur Umstead, 23

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 26—Verdicts were returned in the cases of Frank Hammond, 22, Woodbourne, and William Kay, Jr., 21, Langhorne, in Bucks County court here yesterday, the two being tried on charges of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Arthur Umstead, 23, Langhorne.

Prison sentences of not less than six months and not more than 23 months were suspended on condition that they pay costs of prosecution, fines of $200 each, and surrender operators' licenses for a year. Two were placed on probation for a period of 23 months.

Listed as two separate cases, they were nevertheless heard at one trial. Each of the young men had two lawyers, William H. Vandine, and a Philadelphia barrister representing Kay; and Lawrence A. Monroe and Paul Barrett, of Bristol, representing Hammond. Addresses to the jury were delivered by Vandine and Monroe.

In pronouncing sentences President Judge Hiram H. Keller stated that no matter how severe a prison sentence would be meted out it wouldn't bring back the life of Arthur Umstead. "This will always be a part of your recollection," he reminded the two. The judge scored the young men for their conduct on the night of the accident. He said in part: "Although you were technically not intoxicated there is no doubt in my own mind that you had had enough to drink to make you careless, thoughtless and reckless." The judge further advised that the "cruise" the young men were on that night was anything but commendable. "You can see how dire were the results."

The trial, which started last week, was the outgrowth of an accident which took place at Newport and Hildesville roads, Bensalem township, on November 22nd, at one a. m. Earlier in the case Trooper Diane C. Allen, of Langhorne bar-

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Communists took over the Government of Czechoslovakia yesterday after President Benes bowed to demands that Premier Gottwald receive permission to install a Cabinet of his own choosing. Workers mobilized by the Communists demonstrated freely for the change, but the police killed one person and wounded several others when they fired on students trying to reach the President's residence to urge him not to yield.

The "bloodless revolution" caused anxiety in Britain and French Foreign Minister Bidault saw in the change dangers for his country and Europe. There was talk in Washington of releasing official documents revealing why United States troops stopped after entering Czechoslovakia in 1945 and permitted the Russians to occupy most of the country.

Zionists raided a British military court building in Jerusalem and the Irgun Zvai Leumi threatened to drive all Britons from the city. The United States formally asked the United Nations Security Council to name the Big Five to a committee to decide whether the Palestine situation constituted a threat to peace and to advise how to act.

COMMUNISTS IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA ACT SWIFTLY TO SOLIDIFY PRAGUE GOVERNMENT CONTROL; "STRONG-ARM" FORCES QUELL OPPOSITION

By Robert Heckert (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PRAGUE, Feb. 26 — (INS) — Communists in Czechoslovakia acted swiftly today to solidify their control of the Prague government, employing "strong-arm" forces to quell opposition.

A widespread purge of alleged "reactionaries" within the government appeared about to be instituted and it is expected that numerous Czech representatives abroad will be ousted from their posts.

A newly-established central action committee of the Communist-dominated national front set up a "political coordinating body of all progressive Czechs to combat reaction."

Vice Premier Antonin Zapotocky, Communist trade union leader, was appointed chairman of the group, with Communist Justice Minister Alexej Cepicka as secretary general.

Cepicka declared that the struggle of the Communists cannot be deemed ended with solution of the government crisis. He said that reaction had been hit as never before but that the committee must take all measures to prevent a repetition of "similar provocative actions."

This reference was to the Communist charge that non-Communist forces in Czechoslovakia precipitated the crisis which enabled the Leftists to carry out their coup.

(The Soviet Tass News Agency reported from Prague that a meeting of the central action committee in the foreign ministry demanded "immediate removal of reactionary elements from the central apparatus of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Czech representations abroad.")

FBI ARRESTS WYJADKA; SAID TO HAVE ADMITTED THEFT OF MANY CARS; SAID TO BE "FREE LANCE USED CAR DEALER"

(Special to The Courier)

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 26 — Stephen Wyjadka, 2029 Carver street, Philadelphia, was arrested yesterday by FBI agents in East Orange, N. J.

Wyjadka was convicted in Doylestown, Pa., Tuesday afternoon on the theft of the car of Mrs. Paul V. Forster, of Bristol, Pa., from in front of her residence early last August. After the verdict was rendered in the case Tuesday afternoon, Wyjadka filed an appeal for a new trial. He was out under cash bail.

According to FBI agents here, Wyjadka has been operating as a "free lance used car dealer," and FBI agent Borden, chief of the Philadelphia Bureau, says that Wyjadka has admitted the theft in the Camden-Philadelphia and suburban area of between 20 and 30 late model automobiles. These, it is stated, have been transported to New York and Philadelphia and sold to used car dealers.

The motors were in most instances removed from the cars, it is contended, and replaced by legitimately-purchased motors, and then sold. The stolen motors have been broken up and used for spare parts, it is claimed.

Wyjadka was arraigned before a United States Commissioner last night, and remanded to the Hudson County jail in default of $5,000 bail.

Cooperating with the FBI agents has been Robert Buckley, deputy chief inspector of New Jersey Motor Vehicle Bureau.

Lee was picked up by Chicago police through the information sent them by State Police and Chief Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo. May was arrested on the 18th and held until officials from this state arrived.

He has admitted the theft and signed a confession, say Pvt. Andrew J. Kutney, State Police, and Russo, the investigating officers.

In Mystery Role

THE PRESENCE in Nanking of Gen. Yasutsugu Okamura (above), Japanese general who was commander in chief of the Japanese army in North China during the war, is reported prompted by an attempt by the Nationalists to keep unaptured Japanese forces in Manchuria from going over to the Communists. It is estimated that 225,000 Japanese troops are still on the loose in northwestern Manchuria and in Kirin Province. The Chinese Government has refused to discuss the Japanese general's mystery visit. (International)

Prison Sentences Suspended; Must Pay Costs and Fines of $200 Each

PUT ON PROBATION

Case is Outgrowth of Accident Causing Death of Arthur Umstead, 23

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 26 — Verdicts were returned in the cases of Frank Hammond, 22, Woodbourne, and William Kay, Jr., 21, Langhorne, in Bucks County court here yesterday, the two being tried on charges of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Arthur Umstead, 23, Langhorne.

Prison sentences of not less than six months and not more than 23 months were suspended on condition that they pay costs of prosecution, fines of $200 each, and surrender operators' licenses for a year. The two were placed on probation for a period of 23 months.

Listed as two separate cases, they were nevertheless heard at one trial. Each of the young men had two lawyers, William H. Vandine, and a Philadelphia barrister representing Kay; and Lawrence A. Monroe and Paul Barrett, of Bristol, representing Hammond. Addresses to the jury were delivered by Vandine and Monroe.

In pronouncing sentences President Judge Hiram H. Koller stated that no matter how severe a prison sentence would be meted out it wouldn't bring back the life of Arthur Umstead. "This will always be a part of your recollection," he reminded the two. The judge scored the young men for their conduct on the night of the accident. He said in part: "Although you were technically not intoxicated there is no doubt in my own mind that you had had enough to drink to make you careless, thoughtless and reckless." The judge further advised that the "cruise" the young men were on that night was anything but commendable. "You can see how dire were the results."

The trial, which started last week, was the outgrowth of an accident which took place at Newport and Hulmeville roads, Bensalem township, on November 22nd, at one a. m. Earlier in the case Trooper Duane C. Allen, of Langhorne bar-

CAUSE FOR CONCERN

Chile and Argentina seem determined to bring to a head their argument with Britain over who owns the Falkland Islands, the South Shetlands, and that part of the Antarctic Continent between 25 and 90 degrees West Longitude. They have been taking steps to assert their claims. So has Britain.

Taking note of Argentine and Chilean naval operations in the area, Hector McNeil, Deputy Foreign Minister, told Commons parties had already landed on "what everyone knows we consider to be British territory." He added that Britain would not tolerate further "acts of trespass."

Despite this warning, and in the face of the report that the British cruiser Nigeria had sailed from Capetown under secret orders to back it up, President Gonzalez Videla of Chile has personally set up two military bases in the disputed territory and declared that the land south of Chile belongs to his country by right of "history, geography and law."

The territory is not worth much as real estate, apparently, although there have been surmises that uranium may be found there. Apparently Argentina and Chile have decided that, with the Labor government liquidating the British Empire, the time is propitious for an assertion of their claims in the Antarctic.

THE OIL SHORTAGE

Last summer and autumn, when warnings were given of an impending fuel oil shortage on the Eastern Seaboard unless transportation facilities could be increased, the Maritime Commission did nothing toward the utilization of the hundreds of government-owned tankers under its control.

Not until it was prodded by a congressional committee in November was the commission galvanized into life, selling the tank-ers to private interests that could make effective use of them. But the move came so late that not until a week or two ago could all the tankers be put into seaway shape.

Matching the commission in delayed action, the Commerce Department only now places a ban on the shipment of crude oil to foreign countries without export licenses. Canada is made the sole exception. As a means of bolstering fuel oil supplies, the order comes late in the day, following as it does the oil industry's announcement that the crisis has passed its peak.

Thus two government agencies are convicted of major responsibility for the acute oil shortage in a major part of the nation.

French, who are reported to be rebuilding the Maginot Line, probably have figured out some way of keeping an enemy from going around the ends.

law of gravity, all that goes up must come down. In the case of food, however, it is going across racks, Pa. State Police had testified that Unstead was killed, and three others in the two cars involved, Kay, Hammond, and Winfield Miller. Langhorne, who was thrown from the machine, after the defendants' cars went 132 feet into a lawn after leaving a "T" intersection. He had also informed that at the "T" a stop sign is located 90 feet back from the intersection. One car he stated was following the other, both failed to stop, crossed Hulmeville road and crashed through two fences after leaving the highway, coming to a halt at a tree stump.

District Attorney Edward G.
Blester based the prosecution on the fact that since the two defendants broke a motor code rule, and that act resulted in the death of Unstead, the two were guilty of involuntary manslaughter.

Communists in Czechoslovakia Act Fast To Solidify Prague Gov't

A determination of the Communist regime to smash all opposition was demonstrated forcefully yesterday when a student demonstration protesting the Red seizure of power was raked by gunfire of security police forces.

Several students were wounded and two were reported to have died. The police showered them with bullets in an attempt to halt the march to the presidential palace.

Observers called the parade a "stand popular protest," adding that they are convinced that there will be no more such demonstrations in view of the stern police action.

Police beat many of the more than 1,000 students with rifle butts and arrested some 50 students.

Despite the police effort to force marchers away from the palace, a delegation reached the residence of President Benes and received by officials of the presidency.

An address by the president was held as an anti-climax to the Communist triumph.

President Benes had been scheduled to talk by radio last evening but the speech was postponed after Communist Premier Klement Gottwald achieved victory in naming leaders of his own choosing to Communist-packed government.

President's address at 7 p. m. (1 p. m. local time) will be only a recorded version.

A dispatch to the London Daily Mail said that Benes is a virtual prisoner in his castle.

This dispatch said officials at Jeany Castle described the president as an "exhausted, sick, dispirited man."

A Prague dispatch to the London Daily Graphic said the regime of the capital are living again in an atmosphere like that of 1938.

It added that the trek of non-Communists from the country is taking proportions of a flood, with many thousands streaming across the frontier into American-occupied areas of Bavaria and Austria.

Pa. Twp. Code Adoption Most Forward of Steps

"In getting the new code passed we experienced a lot of trouble," he continued. The speaker named a number of the big interests in Pennsylvania that fought its passage, and then paid tribute to the assistance of Congressman Franklin Lichtenwalter, whose assistance on the day the bill was signed by the Governor, was of inestimable value. The local government commission also helped, he said.

"But the automobile clubs fought it, and I don't know why," Thomson declared. "The automobile clubs seem to represent everything in Harrisburg but the motorists. The cement interests and the gas and oil interests also fought us."

Some of the highlights pointed out in the new code by Thomson are as follows:

"Supervisors can now pass ordinances to do many things they could not do before.

"The new code makes it possible for a number of the pocket boroughs in Pennsylvania to go back into townships where they belong. Likewise, the new code makes annexation of portions of townships to boroughs, a much fairer proposition.

"Tax collector vacancies are now filled by the county court on the petition of supervisors.

"Pay for supervisors who actually work on the roads is now based on a rate comparable for similar work done in any particular area.

"Pay for secretary-treasurer of the board of supervisors has been increased from $50 a year to a maximum of 2 per cent of the money handled.

"Under the new code township police have the same authority as town and State Police, and they are also eligible for pensions. You can now make contracts for police protection with any adjoining borough or township. The township policeman is an employee of the supervisors."

Those attending yesterday's meeting were also pleased to learn that they would receive $5 instead of $3 for their attendance.

The broadest changes in the township code, Mr. Thomson said, deal with the regulations of ordinances.

"You can regulate now by township ordinance and fix the penalty for violation," Thomson said. "You can now rent, buy lease or sell any land. You can remedy anything deemed to be a nuisance in your township, if you first pass the proper ordinance. You can now provide pensions for your employees and for yourselves."

Township supervisors can now provide for the care of their employees and can contribute for Memorial Day observances. You can regulate parking anywhere in the township on any kind of highway, state or otherwise.

"I am also glad to see that zoning

in Bucks county is progressing. You should have passed zoning 10 years ago, as I told you long ago.

"I might also emphasize the point that under the new code, and the ordinance that you pass, there is a fine of $300 or 10 days in jail for its violation.

"You can now construct sewer systems and build up water supplies and charge rentals for the service. You can now provide fire prevention regulations. You can regulate the time or opening and closing of places of amusement, such as skating rinks, and many other places. You can establish parks, playgrounds and can levy a tax up to 2 per cent in your townships to provide proper recreational facilities."

Thomson warned the supervisors to adhere to strict policies in carrying out the town township code. He advised them to be fair and show no favors to any particular group or individuals, or they would surely get into trouble.

New laws not in the townships code, were explained briefly by Thomson. Under the new tax laws, he said, a husband can definitely be held responsible for the payment of his wife's taxes.

Thomson also told the group that he did not like the new law that makes it possible for state assessors to come in to a territory to assess for school purposes. "This will eventually mean abolishment of the local assessors, and this should not be."

Daniel Bailey, representative of the State Highway Department, also discussed the township code. He also reported that Bucks county was the very first in the entire state to file returns of state funds. A number of townships in Bucks county however, have auditors whose reports are still missing, and must be made before March 1, in order to receive the next state payments.

Under the new code, Bailey

pointed out, supervisors are no longer required to get the okay of the Highway Department for materials except when they do not meet the specifications of the highway department. You have to advertise in the newspapers only when purchasing material valued at over $500; otherwise supervisors do their own buying.

Abandonment of township roads, under the new code, can be done now by simply notifying the property owners and by posting notices. Exceptions can be filed in court.

Bailey also informed the supervisors that after 1948 there will be $36,500,000 available for highway construction work in Pennsylvania. He stated that he made this statement to offset a misstatement published through the state recently that some $300,000,000 would be available.

The 1948 meeting passed a number of resolutions. They voiced opposition to any legislation concerning the consolidation of townships unless it conforms to the principle of the Home Rule by making any such consolidation contingent upon a referendum of approval by electors of each township.

The meeting also opposed any attempt to enact legislation that will tend to substitute county units for the performance of public service now being rendered by township officials.

The local group also favored by resolution the permanent allocation of the revenues from a one cent gas tax to cities, boroughs and townships on a 50 per cent mileage and a 50 percent population basis.

The Bucks county unit also went on record as opposing and further increase in the permissible weight of truck loads.

A resolution approved by the state association and okayed by the Bucks county group yesterday, calls for seeking legislation that will permit townships to annex parts of cities and boroughs by the same procedure as annexation of parts of townships.

The local group also favored amendment of the Federal Aid Road Law so as to make it mandatory that a certain percentage of Federal Aid to secondary roads shall be spent on roads not now a part of the State Highway system.

Expression of satisfaction was voiced by the Bucks county group to the Local Government Commission of the State Legislature for its unselfish and untiring efforts in securing the adoption of the new township code of 1947.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

FUNCTIONAL modern furniture, the 1948 kind now displayed in the Snellenburg Furniture Dept., has an elegance that pleases even those who are devoted to rich, traditional furniture designs. Personally, I am tremendously impressed. The pieces are beautiful and in perfect taste. Start only with the basic pieces, then add. Each piece is in solid birch, with a satiny old world finish of mahogany or maple. This "functional" furniture can be arranged and rearranged like a child's blocks, so that the pieces you bought for one purpose can quickly be made to serve and look like another. Again and again you can give a room a "new look" simply by rearrangement. Just now prices for "functional" are lower, but hurry before they soar. You'll adore the chest-on-chests, landscape mirrors, dresser basins, commodes, single and full size beds, vanity tables, benches, etc! (5th floor.)

GIRLS wearing sizes 7 to 14 are extremely clothes conscious. New things for Easter are almost always a "must." Especially are new coats desired for the great spring festival. The Snellenburg Girls' Dept. has a spring display of darling coat models, ranging in price from $16.95 to $29.95. For example, there's a Bamberg original, just like the one featured in "Polly Pigtail Magazine." This coat is a pure wool plaid swing-backer, in gold and brown, with velvet collar. Priced at $19.95. Then there's a double Puritan collared all-wool model. Collar and double pocket flaps to match collar are edged with contrasting color. Double breasted, with 4-iron back. Comes in aqua and shrimp, $24.95. Both coats come in sizes from 7 to 14. Many others. (2nd floor.)

EASTER GIFTING knitters is easy. The Snellenburg Art Needlework has long bright cylindrical knitting boxes, with cords for arm-swinging. The ten inch size costs $1.75, fourteen inch size $1.95. Folding "baskets" for home knitting, opened, they stand alone are priced at $1.95. (2nd fl.)

WAVE IT yourself! Richard Hudnut has just put out a new permanent wave kit that contains the same preparations as those used in his exclusive Fifth Avenue salon! This kit features more than the usual amount of lotion, about four times as much as the usual amount of neutralizer, a wonderful cream rinse softener (exclusive with Hudnut), longer, stronger end-papers, fifty standard rods and ten extra long rods. Furthermore, the Hudnut waving time is given as a single hour. The Hudnut kit is priced at $2.75 plus 30c tax. Refills are priced at $1.50. You'll find Hudnut permanent waving kits at Snellenburgs, in the Toiletries Dept. (1st fl.)

GLAMOROUS as Easter baskets are the dainty flowered or latticed "Koroseal" aprons being sold in the Snellenburg Notions Dept. Their daintiness is the reason they're being bought for Easter presents. All are semi-transparent and in delectable pastel shades. Those without bibs sell for but 75c, some with bibs sell at $1. Stunning bibbed ones, feather-boned in the fashion of strapless evening gowns, are priced at $2.25. Koroseal aprons can be cleaned with a damp cloth, freshened in a twinkling. They wear and wear! Pa. Twp. Code Adoption Most Forward of Steps

"In getting the new code passed we experienced a lot of trouble," he continued. The speaker named a number of the big interests in Pennsylvania that fought its passage, and then paid tribute to the assistance of Congressman Franklin Lichtenwalter, whose assistance on the day the bill was signed by the Governor, was of inestimable value. The local government commission also helped, he said.

"But the automobile clubs fought it and I don't know why," Thomson declared. "The automobile clubs seem to represent everything in Harrisburg but the motorists. The cement interests and the gas and oil interests also fought us."

Some of the highlights pointed out in the new code by Thomson are as follows:

"Supervisors can now pass ordinances to do many things they could not do before."

"The new code makes it possible for a number of the pocket boroughs in Pennsylvania to go back into townships where they belong. Likewise, the new code makes annexation of portions of townships to boroughs, a much fairer proposition."

"Tax collector vacancies are now filled by the county court on the petition of supervisors."

"Pay for supervisors who actually work on the roads, is now based on a rate comparable for similar work done in any particular area."

"Pay for secretary-treasurer of the board of supervisors has been increased from $50 a year to a maximum of 3 per cent of the money handled."

"Under the new code township police have the same authority as town and State Police and they are also eligible for pensions. You can now make contracts for police protection with any adjoining borough or township. The township policeman is an employee of the supervisors."

Those attending yesterday's meeting were also pleased to learn that they would receive $5 instead of $2 for their attendance.

The broadest changes in the township code, Mr. Thomson said, deal with the regulations of ordinances.

"You can regulate now by township ordinance and fix the penalty for violation," Thomson said. "You can now rent, buy lease or sell any land. You can remedy anything deemed to be a nuisance in your township, if you first pass the proper ordinance. You can now provide pensions for your employees and for yourselves."

"Township supervisors can now receive for the cost of their expenses and can contribute for Memorial Day observances. You can regulate parking anywhere in the township on any kind of highway, state or otherwise."

"I am also glad to see that zoning

in Bucks county is progressing. You should have passed zoning 10 years ago, as I told you long ago."

"I might also emphasize the point that under the new code, and the ordinance that you pass, there is a fine of $300 or 10 days in jail for its violation."

"You can now construct sewer systems and build up water supplies and charge rentals for the service. You can now provide fire prevention regulations. You can regulate the time of opening and closing of places of amusement, such as skating rinks, and many other places. You can establish parks, playgrounds and can levy a tax up to 2 per cent in your townships to provide proper recreational facilities."

Thomson warned the supervisors to adhere to strict policies in carrying out the town township code. He advised them to be fair and show no favors to any particular group or individuals, or they would surely get into trouble.

New laws not in the townships code, were explained briefly by Thomson. Under the new tax laws, he said, a husband can definitely be held responsible for the payment of his wife's taxes.

Thomson also told the group that he did not like the new law that makes it possible for state assessors to come in to a territory to assess for school purposes. "This will eventually mean abolishment of the local assessors, and this should not be."

Daniel Bailey, representative of the State Highway Department, also discussed the township code. He also reported that Bucks county was the very first in the entire state to file returns of state funds. A number of townships in Bucks county however, have auditors whose reports are still missing, and must be made before March 1, in order to receive the next state payments.

Under the new code, Bailey

pointed out, supervisors are no longer required to get the okay of the Highway Department for materials except when they do not meet the specifications of the highway department. You have to advertise in the newspapers only when purchasing material valued at over $500; otherwise supervisors do their own buying.

Abandonment of township roads, under the new code, can be done now by simply notifying the property owners and by posting notices. Exceptions can be filed in court.

Bailey also informed the supervisors that after 1948 there will be $26,500,000 available for highway construction work in Pennsylvania. He stated that he made this statement to offset a misstatement published through the state recently that some $800,000,000 would be available.

The 1948 meeting passed a number of resolutions. They voiced opposition to any legislation concerning the consolidation of townships unless it conforms to the principle of the Home Rule by making any such consolidation contingent upon a referendum of approval by electors of each township.

The meeting also opposed any attempt to enact legislation that will tend to substitute county units for the performance of public service now being rendered by township officials.

The local group also favored by resolution the permanent allocation of the revenues from a one cent gas tax to cities, boroughs and townships on a 50 per cent mileage and a 50 per cent population basis.

The Bucks county unit also went on record as opposing and further increase in the permissible weight of truck loads.

A resolution approved by the state association and okayed by the Bucks county group yesterday, calls for seeking legislation that will permit townships to annex parts of cities and boroughs by the same procedure as annexation of parts of townships.

The local group also favored amendment of the Federal Aid Road Law so as to make it mandatory that a certain percentage of Federal Aid to secondary roads shall be spent on roads not now a part of the State Highway system.

Expression of satisfaction was voiced by the Bucks county group to the Local Government Commission of the State Legislature for its unselfish and untiring efforts in securing the adoption of the new township code of 1947.

Kiddies and Kiwanian Fathers Hear Geo. Case

PENNDLE, Feb. 26 — George Case, star outfielder of the Washington Senators, entertained a large group of "kiddies" and members of Bucks County Lincoln Highway Kiwanis Club at a father and son dinner meeting at the Royal Gardens, Bensalem township, on Tuesday evening.

Vice President Paul Sauerby, chairman of the program committee, introduced Mr. Case amid a thunderous ovation by the youngsters. Mr. Case then proceeded to outline the highlights of his baseball career. He recalled how he received his start in the days of '20 and '31 with an American Legion outfit. Mr. Case maintained that civic organizations, such as Kiwanis, have done an excellent job in sponsoring young ball teams, thereby giving many a promising player his start toward the big time. "Professional ball is much concerned about talent coming up, scouts assert that there isn't too much talent available today. Most young fellows simply won't take the trouble to enter 'pro' ball. The trouble with many youngsters is that they want to start at the top rather than take their primary training in the minors. It's too much or them to work their way to the top. Also, many young ball players coming up get homesick when the going gets too tough for them. They want to pack their bags and go back home to mother. It's every rookie's dream who trains in Florida in the spring to make the first team and become a top-notch performer. Some of the youngsters who reach spring training are very shy and a few are cocky. Some of the boys who do very well in the minors and how much promise simply falter when they get their chance in the big time." Others, who are just mediocre ball players in the bush leagues, become stars. This inconsistency is very difficult to explain. Of course, sometimes an overabundance of advance publicity by the press ruins a promising player."

After his talk, Mr. Case showed the group some very interesting films concerning spring training camps and opening day ceremonies of a few ball games.

A drawing was held for a soft ball autographed by George Case, and the lucky winner was John Crowley.

Prior to Mr. Case's talk the following guests were introduced: John Morasch, of Pennell, and manager of one of the Kiwanis soft ball teams; J. W. Caldwell, West Trenton, N. J.; a guest of president Edward Johnson, Kiwanian Howard B. Hendricks, of the Lansdale Club; and Joseph Rhoads, of Park and, guest of Ralph Acosta. Each youngster also was introduced by his father or sponsor.

President Edward Johnson announced that this evening the board of directors will hold a dinner meeting at the Royal Gardens commencing at seven.

Joseph Law, secretary, announced that a cover contest for the weekly bulletin will be staged and he kiddie producing the most effective and most appealing cover will be awarded a prize.

Vice President Paul Sauerby announced that on March 2nd Mr. Anderson of the Robertson Art Tile Company, Morrisville, will be the guest speaker.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. John C. Kulp
Pastor

—O—
Great God our Father, ruler of all nations, judge of all men, we cry aloud unto thee for our sinful selves and our wayward nation. Hear our pleas as we ask thy forgiveness for our wickedness. Cleanse us from our sins and give us life anew that all people may acknowledge thee to be Lord of all. Inspire the leaders of our nation to righteousness. May they too, own thee as Lord and Saviour, for without thee we are lost. Speak and make thy will known for this nation and society. Awaken men to thy voice and the wisdom of thy will that this nation may lead others to the way of everlasting peace and brotherhood through Christ who loved us and gave Himself for us that we might have peace and life everlasting. In His name we pray. Amen.

FIFTH WARD PLAYS AN ERRATIC GAME AND LOSES TILT

Fifth Ward played erratic ball last night on the high school court as it dropped its fourth straight game of the Bristol Basketball League. The Hibernians were the victors with the final tabulations being: Hibernians, 53; Fifth Ward, 40.

The Warders had many opportunities to beat the Hibs and missed many lay-ups. On several occasions with men loose under the nets, the Warders' passes were wild and went into the stands.

While the Fifth Ward team was having a difficult time, the Hibs were making their shots good. The winners played a cool and collected game and took advantage of all their close shots to score.

"Johnny" Rodgers led the winners in scoring by slitting the cords for 9 fielders and a foul, while "Bill" McGerr had 10 points. Jesse Vanant and Joe Elmer played fine defensive ball.

For the losing team, Joe Plebani scored 9 points, while "Vince" DiDanna had 8, with Constantino getting the ball off the boards.

Sunday afternoon, the playing of the Basketball League shifts to the Rohm & Haas floor where Prof's meet the Knights of Columbus and St. Ann's stacks up against the Croydon Vets.

Monday night, the scene of playing will take place on the high school court, with Falls Alumni meeting the Hibernians and St. Ann's playing Rohm & Haas.

R. & H. FIVE MOVES NEARER TO FIRST PLACE IN LEAGUE

Rohm & Haas moved to within one-half game of first place in the Bristol Basketball League by a 56-49 win over the Falls Alumni quintet last night on the high school floor. The loss practically eliminated the Fallsington boys from the circuit race.

"Angie" Everitt was the big gun of the winners' attack as he dropped in 9 field goals and 7 out of 13 fouls for 25 points, one short of the season's record held by "Fred" Briggie, of the Alumni team.

Not only did Everitt amass the high total of points but he was continually controlling the backboards and getting possession of the ball for his team.

The contest was nip-and-tuck for the first half with the count being deadlocked on several occasions. At the half-time gun, the score was 27-27. The tilt remained close in the third period with Rohm & Haas getting a four-point lead which they stretched as they hit the cords for fielders in the final quarter.

Briggie had 11 points to lead the losers, while White played a fine defensive game.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wright and family, Landreth Manor, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Wright.

TWO TILTS HAVE A BEARING ON STANDING

With both games having a bearing on the league standing, the Bristol Youth League has two games scheduled for the Mutual Aid floor tonight. In the first tilt, the Second Ward Boys' Club will meet the Terchon Post Cadets while in the nightcap, Penn A. C. meets the Junior Hibernians.

Second Ward and the Hibernians must win tonight to keep in a deadlock with the Third Ward Eagles for fourth place.

In the Bristol Junior League contest, the St. Mark's Parochial School five meets the Harriman Methodist. St. Mark's will deadlock St. Ann's for first place if it beats the Methodist team.

HULMEVILLE

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Darrah, of the Walker apartments, were the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John J. McMahon, Trenton, N. J.

In observance of her 9th birthday anniversary Gladys Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips, entertained at a party on Saturday afternoon. Her guests were: Dorothy Holzworth, "Betty" Bilger, Harriet and Helen Dain, Howard Custer, Hulmeville; and Patricia Davis, of Pennell. The group played games, then partook of refreshments. Gladys was the recipient of gifts.
